A SHORT CIRCUIT in a wall receptacle on the second floor of this home at 2209 Delmar Ave., is believed to be the cause of a fire Friday night that caused an estimated $37,000 damage. Restoration of the home, owned by attorney John Hopkins and built in the early 1900s, had just been completed. Granite City firefighters were on the scene for three hours. The patriotic display at the home was featured on the front page of Thursday's Press-Record.

Dog leashes fleeing suspect

"It was the first time I'd let him loose and he did what he is supposed to do," Venice Police Officer Daniel McKinney said Thursday. McKinney was speaking of Benji, the newest addition to the Venice Police Department, who captured a man being sought on a felony warrant and other warrants at 5:50 p.m. Wednesday. BENJI, a 3-year-old German Shepherd, recently graduated from the St. Louis Metropolitan Police Department's Canine Services School, along with his handler, McKinney. "I'm really pleased with him. He didn't deviate, just kept after him (suspect)."

"There were some kids playing ball nearby who scattered when they saw him coming, running in all directions," the officer said.

THE K-9 DOG'S target was Charles Haynes Jr., 24, of the 600 block of Bissell Apartments, Venice, who had successfully eluded police on earlier occasions, officers said.

Haynes was charged with aggravated battery, resisting arrest, escape and theft.

He also was served with a contempt warrant, alleging failure to appear on a charge of theft from a motor vehicle, and a Granite City warrant alleging unlawful possession of cannabis.

IN HIS APPEARANCE Thursday afternoon in the Granite City court, bond on Haynes was set at $34,000 and he was returned to the Venice City Jail.

Haynes had jumped from a second-story window on one occasion, and allegedly ran toward a police sergeant while holding a butcher knife in his hand another time, officers alleged. In both instances, the suspect escaped.

An information against Haynes was issued by the Madison County state's attorney for aggravated battery following an incident at 1 a.m. June 24.

At that time, the suspect was said to be at the apartment of a former girlfriend, who lives in the 300 block of Bissell Apartments. When he was told he was under arrest on a contempt warrant, he fled through the front door, it was contended.

THE WOMAN was advised to stay in the apartment and a search was made for Haynes. When a sergeant returned with a telephone to lend to the woman, so police could be called if necessary,

Downtown plan passed

GRANITE CITY — Rebuilding downtown Granite City came another step closer Tuesday night.

The Granite City Council passed three ordinances dealing with its tax increment financing (TIF) plan. This will allow the city to capture the increase in property tax and sales tax revenue resulting from redevelopment of the area, and borrow against it to raise funds.

The first two ordinances, providing for the adoption and approval of the plan, were passed with little debate.

HOWEVER, 5th Ward Alderman Lloyd Bailey voiced objection to the third ordinance, defining the 83-acre redevelopment area.

Bailey said the proposed boundaries were somewhat different than what he originally saw, and wondered why the aldermen had not been informed of the changes.

Third Ward Alderman Brett Hanke told Bailey that the original plan presented to the council was only conceptual.

"You can have your own ideas," Bailey said, "but I know what I've seen."

Director of Economic Development Alan Ortals said there were some changes in the development area since the aldermen were first briefed about it in January.

THE ALDERMEN passed the ordinance designating the redevelopment area 13-1, with Bailey voting "no."

"This is the last chance to revitalize the downtown area," said Mayor pro-tem Sam Whitmer. "If it don't work they might as well level it off for a helicopter port down there."

"I think it's a tremendous step in the right direction," said R.C. Bush, executive vice president of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce. "The work is now ready to begin."

"It's the last hurdle," Ortals said.

ORTALS ADDED work is continuing on a brochure to be sent to commercial developers throughout the Midwest.

He hopes the city can start purchasing ground for redevelopment by fall.

Peter Ponce began his duties this week as a new regional director of the Illinois Adult and Continuing Education Association (IACEA).

Ponce is director of the Venice-Lincoln Technical Center, the adult vocational-education school on South Fourth Street, Venice.

A PROFESSIONAL organization of adult and continuing educators, the IACEA elected the Venice resident to regional office at the group's spring conference in Chicago.

Ponce said the group is committed to providing professional staff development activities for teachers and administrators.

Promoting the quality of and opportunities for adult education in the state is a vital part of the IACEA's commitment, he said; the group also is active in promoting adult education in the legislature.

IACEA HAS about 900 members in Illinois and is nationally affiliated with the American Association for Adult and Continuing Education (AAACE), Ponce said.

A native of Venice, the newest IACEA regional officer has been director of Venice-Lincoln since June 1984.

He is a former mathematics and science teacher at Venice-Lincoln Center and was teacher-coordinator at Venice High School.

PONCE is a former president and longtime member of the Venice Park Board. He attended St. Mark's School in Venice and Venice High School.

He received a bachelor of arts degree in history from SIUE in 1971 and a master of science degree in occupational education in 1974 from SIU at Carbondale. He also attended St. Louis University.

Ponce has worked closely with programs designed to help reduce adult illiteracy. His expertise also includes developing programs that encourage unemployed and under employed persons to learn new job skills.

Board approves life safety work

GRANITE CITY — Parking lots at District 9 schools will see some improvement over the summer.

School Board members approved a $66,465 project at Prather School at the June 24 meeting. Also approved were three charges to life safety bids amounting to $105,721.

"We have to work within their budget," said Henry Gabriel, an architect employed by the district for the life safety project.

"I gave them an estimate for minimum amounts of work," he said. "The contractor's estimates were much lower than mine. We found we could get much more work for the money."

Low bidder for phase three of the project was the C.D. Peters Construction Co. of Granite City. That project calls for driveway, parking lot and playground resurfacing at Prather School.

Also provided will be new fire alarm and security systems, emergency escape hardware and 20 new doors.

Similar work is being done at other District 9 schools as part of the first two life safety projects.

Phase one calls for repairs to Grigsby Junior High, Parkview Elementary, Frohardt Elementary and Marshall Elementary schools.

Change orders on bids previously accepted by the district raised the bottom-line figure for phase one from $180,000 to $198,811.

Adhere to liberty's ideals

To the editor:

Our 4th of July celebration of liberty calls us to increased appreciation of our hard-won heritage of liberty and freedom. This year's emphasis on the Statue of Liberty should broaden our awareness of the universal search for these concepts.

The abundance of super birthday galas and TV offerings of historical flavored entertainment could well be balanced by several readings of the Declaration of Independence.

Thomas Jefferson drew heavily from the writings of John Locke and Jean Jacques Rousseau to produce the document which has since served as the model for countries on every continent seeking independence.

The ideas embodied in it are right and true for all peoples who seek liberty, namely: (1) people possess natural rights to life, liberty and property; (2) governments rule by consent of the governed by means of a social contract between people and their rulers; and (3) people have the right to replace governments that fail to protect their rights.

A part of our holiday observance should be to consider how we as a nation today compare to our founding goals. How many of our founding document of independence serve us as a leader in today's world when many other peoples are seeking liberation from oppression as we did with our Revolutionary War?

We need to sort out the realities of democracy, liberty and freedom from the loose use of these words we have grown accustomed to.

The Declaration lists 18

grievances against the King of England as causes for seeking independence. Many of them are remote from our experience today.

Three of them voice the reality of oppression with which many developing nations today struggle. (1) "He (the King) has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people." (2) "He is at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny already begun with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages." (3) "He has excited domestic insurrections among us..."

Because the U.S. is now a great power, it behooves us to see ourselves in the position England held in 1776 and to look at our founding document from the perspective of countries now struggling for their independence.

Often they are seeking liberation from historic oppression by a succession of world powers. U.S.-supported violence against civilians is not the American way. It is a repudiation of our beloved Declaration of Independence.

The ancient words of Leviticus 25:10, "Proclaim liberty throughout all the land unto all the inhabitants thereof; it shall be a jubilee for you," have universal intent. They are claimed by people of faith around the world.

Let us not make the mistake of viewing liberty so narrowly that we present a stumbling block to others who seek it in their way.

Statue of Liberty spotlights reform need

By U.S. Sen. Paul Simon

(Sen. Simon is a member of the Senate Subcommittee on Immigration and Refugee Policy and the Senate Subcommittee on the Constitution.)

Let us use this 100th anniversary of the Statue of Liberty to increase our efforts to come up with meaningful immigration policy — a policy that is fair, a policy that is in line with the ideals of this country.

The United States is sometimes called a "nation of immigrants" and it is. Most of us trace our ancestry to a foreign country, and we are proud of that heritage.

The 100th anniversary of the Statue of Liberty this Fourth of July weekend is a time to celebrate the rich diversity of our national heritage. It also is a time to take a look at U.S. immigration policy — past, present and future.

If we are to keep the spirit of the Statue of Liberty alive, if the famous words by Emma Lazarus attached to the statue's pedestal ("Give your tired, your poor"...) are to hold any meaning for future newcomers to our great country, we must have a sensible, fair and compassionate immigration policy.

While we have held open the door for the persecuted, the homeless, "the huddled masses yearning to breathe free," we have also slammed the door shut to some.

In 1902, Congress passed the Chinese Exclusion Act, suspending immigration from China. In 1902, that ban was made permanent until suspended during World War II.

Responding to demands early this century to restrict immigration following the millions who arrived at Ellis Island, Congress began to make drastic changes in immigration policy in 1917. It banned immigration from nearly all of Asia and the Pacific Islands.

In the 1920s, Congress passed the first legislation to restrict the number of immigrants and adopted the national-origins systems, to prevent any major change in the racial and ethnic makeup of the U.S. population. Immigration quotas clearly favored residents of northern Europe.

Shortly after World War II, the focus of immigration policy switched to political beliefs. Congress reacted to strong anti-Communist sentiment sweeping the nation — passed the Internal Security Act in 1950. President Truman vetoed it. The president objected to provisions that banned immigration of past members of totalitarian organizations even though they had renounced their former ideology.

In his veto message, Truman said, "Instead of trying to encourage the free movement of people, subject only to the real requirements of national security, these provisions attempt to bar movement to anyone who is, or once was, associated with ideas we dislike. And in the process, they would succeed in barring many people whom it would be to our advantage to admit.

Congress overrode the Truman veto and the denial of visas and immigration to people of differing political views has been part of U.S. policy ever since. In light of our national ideals, sometimes this policy becomes an embarrassment.

We refused to admit the Canadian author of the book "Wolf" because he had protected U.S. military planes flying over his timber land.

We refused to admit the widow of the former president of Chile, when she was invited by a Roman Catholic diocese, because she had expressed disagreement with some of our policies.

A speaker invited by the National Endowment for Humanities to speak about the importance of freedom — a Polish citizen was given a tough time upon entering the U.S. because he admitted he once was a Communist.

We have kept out Canadian professors and Japanese citizens who oppose the development of nuclear weapons.

During debate on the Simpson comprehensive immigration reform bill last year, I offered an amendment to change our policy, to permit people with differing political views to have temporary visas. My amendment would also tighten the provisions to allow exclusion on national security grounds, banning anyone involved with terrorism from this country. It was defeated 66-30.

If we are a nation committed to the free flow of ideas and beliefs, this immigration policy must change.

There is little question that we need to get control of our borders. The flow of illegal aliens is growing.

But the Immigration and Naturalization Service, long treated as the unwanted stepchild of the federal government, has been denied the resources necessary to enforce the law. I support a provision in the Simpson immigration bill passed by the Senate that would give the INS additional staffing so it can do the job we are asking it to do.

But I do have concerns with other portions of the bill. I am concerned many employers will simply refuse to hire Hispanic, Hispanic-looking or Spanish-surnamed applicants rather than risk substantial penalties that can be levied against employers.

If we are to have meaningful immigration reform, we must have closer cooperation with Mexico. We can pass all the immigration laws we want, but unless the economy of Mexico improves, the illegal immigration from that country will grow and grow. We can no longer treat Mexico with indifference.

Thankfully, we have ended immigration quotas based on racial and ethnic reasons. But we still need to improve our laws.

Let the Statue of Liberty — an immigrant herself from France — remind us of our past. Let Lady Liberty bring out the best in us. Let the dream live.

A musty scrap of paper

To the editor:

"We the people of the United States, in order to form a more perfect union, establish justice, insure domestic tranquility, provide for the common defense, promote the general welfare, and secure the blessings of liberty to ourselves and our posterity do ordain and establish this Constitution for the United States of America."

With those immortal words, the founders of this nation embarked on an extraordinary adventure in government, the likes of which the world had never seen. Never before had any nation willingly subordinated itself to a scrap of paper.

In a sense, there had been constitutions before. But they were unwritten traditions, or limited agreements between kings and privileged groups, such as the famous British Magna Charta.

Our Constitution is an American original. Indeed, it is not stretching it to say that our most profound contribution to civilization was the first, our Constitution.

Few possess keener appreciation of that contribution than Chief Justice Warren Burger. Having resigned his post on the high court he can now devote full time to supervising the bicentennial celebration of the Constitution, and sharing it with peoples of other countries.

Now some will say there must be another reason for Burger's resignation. After all, why would a man abandon one of the most powerful positions in our government to celebrate a musty scrap of paper? And what makes him think other nations would give a hoot about that wilted leaf?

But Warren Burger is a student of history and, as such, understands the transient nature of personal power and the abiding impact of principle.

Chief justices come and go, but the Constitution abides. It provides order from one generation to another, protecting us from the excesses of blind emotion and the inexpressible cruelty of unrestrained passions.

It is not by accident that our nation has become a beacon of freedom to the world, an island where liberty survives the violent upheavals of war and economic dislocation.

Rather, it is because we accord ultimate authority to principles instead of personalities, to ideals instead of ideologies.

But if Burger succeeds only in reminding Americans of their Constitution, and the blessings it has bestowed upon them, his mission will be a resounding success.

They play golf in heaven, don't they?

Golfers are convinced they play golf in heaven.

I heard a story to that effect last Sunday (June 29) during a Journal golf tournament at Clinton Hills in Belleville.

The story has it that Jesus, St. Peter and this other guy were playing golf one day.

Jesus was first off the tee and he hit his ball into a water hazard.

St. Peter hit his ball into the woods.

The third player hit what looked like a disastrous shot into the trees. That ball bounced off a few branches and then fell to the ground, where it took a favorable bounce off a turtle's shell.

Before the ball could quit rolling, a fox grabbed up the ball and carried it to a hill behind the green before dropping it.

The ball rolled downhill until it stopped right at the edge of the cup. Suddenly, a gust of wind

Columnists' Club

By Bill Milligan

came up and blew the ball into the hole.

Jesus looked around and said, "Nice shot, Dad."

That's the kind of luck I would need to shoot a good round of golf.

Actually, I've had a few shots like the one described above.

Once, I hit a ball that skipped across a lake, rolled up a hill and left me with a 20-foot putt for a birdie.

Once, I hit my tee shot into a creek bed. When I blasted out with my sand wedge, the ball hit the bank and came back at me. Somehow, I managed to hit the ball again and end up with a decent shot to the green.

Unfortunately, I didn't come up with any miracles last Sunday, unless you consider that my team ended up at even par for 18 holes.

That wasn't a miracle. It was mostly due to the play of team members Lloyd Lerch and Mick Warford. In this tournament, players hit four separate tee shots and then chose the best lie for their second shot. The winning team shot 6-under par.

Through 18 holes of golf, our team used my shot maybe three or four times. The rest of the time I spent digging up the golf course.

I love golf.

The only reason I keep playing is because no one has had sense enough to bar me from any courses. They trust me. I guess.

The last golf tournament I played in I won a dozen golf balls. Competition was tough, but I managed to win out in the end. The golf balls were my reward for getting a 14 on a par three hole. I barely edged out a nine-year-old who shot a 13 on the hole.

That was the hole I told you about, the one where my tee shot landed in the creek.

"Take these (golf balls); you need 'em," said the pro who handed me my award.

Back in the clubhouse after the tournament, everybody wanted to make sure I played in the next Journal tournament. This fall.

What they weren't saying is whose team I would be on. Nobody offered to let me join their foursome.

I'm going to practice for that next tourney.

Maybe golf is my ticket to wealth and riches. I can't say. I've heard of people who probably was, but we see it differently. The cartoon showed some board members think they're right in the present controversy and that we do not.

Though our attempt is to bring home ideas through editorial cartoons in a way that will increase awareness of issues, the public should take the cartoons for what they are — opinions, not the Gospel truth.

Take editorial cartoons for what they are

Editorial cartoons hit some persons more strongly than our best-written editorials.

One of our cartoonists (via syndication) is Mike Peters. The Pulitzer Prize winner's shop with has resulted in several calls.

We're asked why Peters picks on Ronald Reagan. We admit he does, but sometimes his cartoons are fun at Democrats, sometimes big business, sometimes special-interest groups, and on. The cartoons aren't all against the president.

The president seems better at taking criticism than some of his supporters. According to Editor & Publisher, Mr. Reagan recently

Media Mandarin

By Jack C. Ventimiglia, Executive Editor

invited several of the nation's editorial cartoonists to the White House and Peters' was among them.

Lately, we've been publishing locally-aimed editorial cartoons. Some like the cartoons and others don't. I suppose, I suppose, whose side the cartoon favors.

A couple of persons complained we were unfair to Mayor Von Dee Cruse because we printed a cartoon of him as a bartender serving liquor licenses. Our perspective is that the cartoon was humorous and offered a different perspective on the issue (we have editorialized in favor of the license). The mayor is the city's liquor commissioner and did award a controversial license, so the depiction of him as a bartender seemed natural.

Interestingly, the mayor, who is a former bartender and a sports didn't complain, except to say the apron he used to wear never reached his collar — it wrapped around his waist.

We've printed cartoons critical of the Granite City School Board. We've heard favorable comments on those, except for the one of the "Last Supper." Two persons called it sacrilegious. In their eyes it probably was, but we see it differently. The cartoon showed some board members think they're right in the present controversy and that we do not.

Though our attempt is to bring home ideas through editorial cartoons in a way that will increase awareness of issues, the public should take the cartoons for what they are — opinions, not the Gospel truth.

3,000 cheer athletes at Special Olympics

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

Honors in track and field events went to several area residents in the Illinois Special Olympics Summer Games.

Close to 3,000 athletes and many more spectators gathered June 20 through June 22 for the Summer Games in Hancock Stadium at Illinois State University in Bloomington-Normal.

THE FLAME OF HOPE, the fire that burned throughout the games, was lighted by five participants from Southwestern Illinois Special Olympics Area 12, which includes the Quad-City Area.

Area 12 personnel and volunteers were designated official hosts at the 1986 games. Lighting of the Special Olympics flame was performed by Larry Kynion of Granite City, Donna Winkelman of Red Bud, Zachery Whitt of Collinsville, Tom Kish of Belleville and Jeff Cline of Cahokia.

THE TORCHBEARERS circled the stadium track to loud applause and cheers, a greeting that spurred many of the local athletes to even greater efforts in the ensuing events.

Larry Kynion of OATH (Organization for Advancement of the Handicapped) went on to win first place and a gold medal in the 25-meter wheelchair race.

Michael Schlueter of OATH captured first place in the 100-meter walking race and received his gold medal from Eunice Kennedy Shriver.

THE NATIONALLY acclaimed Special Olympics program was created by the Joseph P. Kennedy Jr. Foundation.

Also playing a key role in the opening ceremonies was Sandra Haine from the Tri-Cities Area Association.

She was one of two persons holding the Special Olympic banner in front of the reviewing stand and came in fifth place in the 50-yard dash.

ERVIN LANDWHEIMER of the Tri-Cities Area Association won a gold medal in the 200-yard dash and third place in the 50-yard dash.

Craig York, also of the Tri-Cities Association, took first place and a gold medal in the high jump event and third place in the long jump. Also among the local athletes were Karen Green and Diane Dorste, members of the OATH team, who captured silver and

'I Really Tried'

Don't call me retarded. Just because I'm slow. I crossed the line like all the rest And finished fifth, you know. Rafer Johnson shook my hand And said I really tried. And all the people cheered me as I walked away with pride. Then they pinned my ribbon on. The one that said Fifth Place. And it was just as pretty. As the one's who won the race. When the others teased me for coming in next to last. I told them, "I'm not built for speed; I can't run very fast." But don't call me retarded. If you want to be my friend, I may not finish in the lead But I'll "hang in" till the end. And when they put the medals on The others, I'll take pride That Rafer Johnson shook my hand And said, "You really tried."

bronze medals, respectively, in the softball throwing event.

THE PARADE OF ATHLETES was a stirring sight from the crowded stands, spectators reported.

"Let me win, But if I cannot win, Let me be brave in the attempt" was the oath recited by the participants.

Loud cheers greeted law enforcement officers who ran the final leg of the Law Enforcement Torch Run for Special Olympics, a statewide project.

The five separate routes began at Cairo, Danville, Quincy, Chicago and South Beloit, all culminating Friday, June 20, at the opening day ceremonies in Hancock Stadium.

THE ILLINOIS Association of Chiefs of Police sponsored the Special Olympics Torch Run this year, assisted by The Good Sam Club and Buick.

For the second year, major sponsorship of the 1986 Illinois Special Olympics was provided by the Illinois State Council of the Knights of Columbus which donated $40,000 to the project.

"This generous donation allowed us to reduce the registration fee to $30, the same as in 1985," a Special Olympics spokesman said.

THOUSANDS of athletes benefit each year through the support from local Knights of Columbus Councils.

Local councils, including Tri-Cities KC Council 1098, generate funds for the Olympics through their annual Tootsie Roll drive each October.

"All of us in the Illinois Special Olympics encourage the public to help the Knights of Columbus in this project so they may continue to support the Special Olympics in Illinois," the spokesman said.

THE AMERICAN LEGIONS of Illinois and its Auxiliary units hosted the athletes, coaches and family members at a hospitality center, on the Illinois State University grounds.

Snacks and drinks were served by the American Legion volunteers inside a large tent.

The tent was situated near the ISU Fieldhouse, during the three-day 1986 Summer Games.

THE LEGION was the primary funding resource also for the Special Olympics International Games delegations in 1983 and 1985.

Ronald C. Morehead, president of the Illinois Special Olympics board of directors, announced the American Legion again will be the major sponsor of the Illinois delegation for its participation in the 1987 International Summer Special Olympics Games.

The International Summer Games will take place at the University of Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind.

Low bid will cost city more

GRANITE CITY — Trash removal service for The Anchorage and Kirkpatrick Homes will be continued by the same company, but at a higher cost to the city.

The Granite City Council unanimously approved a bid Tuesday night from Big G Disposal and Container Service of Granite City for providing Wednesday collection of trash at the two housing projects.

The bid was $18,150 for a one-year contract. Big G provided the same service for the past year at a cost of $12,696 — a difference of more than $5,450.

At the June 17 council meeting, 5th Ward Alderman Jake Vardian, sanitation and inspection committee chairman, told aldermen Big G would renew its contract with the city for another year when it expired June 30 at the same price.

However, the aldermen defeated a motion to renew the contract with Big G and voted instead to seek bids.

A bid of $7,238 for a three-year contract for the trash collection was submitted by Laidlaw Waste Systems Inc.

Lunsford leaves Madison board

MADISON — A letter of resignation from Paul Lunsford as a member of the Board of Police Commissioners was accepted at a council meeting Tuesday night.

Lunsford listed health and business obligations as his reasons for leaving the board.

Renewal of a lease agreement between the city and the Chicago and North Western railroad police was approved. They lease basement rooms at the city hall for $125 per month.

Mayor John Bellico told the council that the finance committee is working on specific areas of the city budget in an effort to cut costs. It will continue to meet and then present its findings at the next council meeting.

"I am taking a hard look at (costs in) three departments in the city on a day-to-day basis and will eventually decide which way to go in the future," Bellico said.

He added that each alderman has received a tentative budget and the council will discuss each department at the July 15 session as well as considering suggestions of the finance committee, headed by Alderman Jim Hillmer.

Alderman Don Garrett requested an explanation as to why Ed Warchol was not reappointed as city civil defense director. The mayor said Warchol had told him he would step down at any time the mayor felt he wanted to appoint someone else to that position.

"I did not want him to leave the post and since then have talked with him about this. I felt that Danny Sipes — by working with the sheriff's department and as a fireman — would be aware of unwanted (hazardous) shipments coming through the area and be aware of prevailing conditions in the city," the mayor said.

"We did not have a disagreement and I feel he (Warchol) has done a very good job," Bellico told Garrett.

Dog collars suspect

Haynes was coming out of the apartment.
The suspect allegedly ran down steps toward the officer, and jumped over a railing; he was pursued by the officer, who fired two warning shots, but he escaped.

The woman suffered cuts to her hands and reported being struck with a tire iron. She was taken by police to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment and was returned to her apartment. At that point, Haynes apparently had returned there and jumped from the window and escaped, police said.

BENJI CORNERED Haynes on top of a pickup truck after the suspect was seen near Weaver and Calhoun streets Wednesday and then ran past McKinney and the dog near Weaver and Jackson streets.

McKinney yelled for Haynes to stop but said the man continued to flee, crossing the former Dunbar School yard. McKinney turned Benji loose and the man crossed W. Third Street and jumped into the bed of a parked pickup truck.

The suspect climbed onto the cab of the vehicle and the dog was in the process of jumping into the truck bed after him when McKinney called him off the pursuit.

"He did just fine," McKinney said of his K-9 partner.

Changes in the Griggs project call for a 3-inch asphalt overlay on the driveway, blending of the overlay into existing pavement and sealing the surface. Also to be sealed are school parking areas.

Overlay work at Parkview, Frohardt and Marshall schools also is part of phase one. In addition, window glass and two new doors will be installed at Frohardt and Marshall schools.

Rule Construction, of Collinsville, was awarded the project on the basis of its original bid of $180,000.

The board made two changes to the bid for phase two of the project.

First, the board upgraded the bid of Peters Construction. Originally $74,645, the bid became $88,510 after it was decided various alternate charges would be part of the work.

Phase two covers Maryville, Niedringhaus and Wilson elementary schools.
Contracts for that work were approved at the June 3 School Board meeting. Because bids came in so far below Gabriel's estimates, he said he recontacted the bidders for estimates on more comprehensive repairs.

Signs on utility poles hazardous

Signs on utility poles are safety hazards. A recent rash of such sign postings has prompted a call by Union Electric Co. to the public to refrain from such activity.

"Anything which is attached to utility poles can injure workers who climb the poles," a UE spokesman said. Staples and tacks can cause linemen to lose their footing or grip and nails can cause a cut or puncture wound.

Holy Trinity conducts celebration

Fifty days after Orthodox Easter, Orthodox Christians celebrate the day of Holy Pentecost. On this day, Holy Trinity Bulgarian Eastern Orthodox Church, Madison, one of the oldest orthodox churches in this region, celebrated its church nameday.

The observance began with a memorial service on Saturday morning by Metropolitan Joseph of Akron and Very Rev. Peter Stamboldjiev, the parish priest of Holy Trinity. A memorial luncheon at the church recognized deceased parishioners, with Father Thomas Succarotti, the Nativity of Virgin Mary Church in Madison as a guest.

On the eve of Pentecost a vesper service with five loaves of bread was performed by Metropolitan Joseph and Rev. Stamboldjiev for the health of all parishioners.

On the Sunday of Holy Pentecost, a solemn divine liturgy was given, followed by a vesper service. In accord with Orthodox tradition, the service included scattering of walnut leaves in the church to signify the coming of the Holy Spirit among the Apostles. These leaves were gathered by those attending the service to be preserved before the family ikon until the following Pentecost.

Church members and friends gathered for a luncheon of ethnic foods in celebration of the holiday. After prayers, greetings were voiced by the members of the church, Elaine Shipcoff.

Don Reeves introduced the honored guests, State Sen. Sam Vadalabene, Mayor John Bellotti of Madison, former judge John Gitchoff, Alderman Christ Costoff and the church board of Holy Trinity.

Reeves next introduced the ethnic dancing group of Holy Trinity, "Apen Mak," which gave a spirited performance in native costumes. Tony Mangoff, a member of the dancing group, gave a short description of each choreographed dance number.

The performing artists of the group were Ena Stamboldjiev, Elaine Shipcoff, Michael Stamboldjiev, Steve Stamboldjiev, Stoyana Kenkoff, Tony Mangoff and Roger Hill. Members of the group unable to perform on this occasion were Anastasia Elieff and Kathy Bellotti.

For the last number of their performance, the dancers descended from the stage to invite members of the audience to join in performing one of the most popular Bulgarian dances, "Eleno Mome." After the dancing group concluded its performance, all in attendance were invited to join in dancing to the music of Phillip Tsigoloff.

The holiday marked the 23rd year of service at Holy Trinity by Rev. Stamboldjiev.

Trio officers hold first meet

Mary Wilson, newly-elected chairman of the Trio Unit of the Madison County Homemakers Extension Association, presided at a regular meeting of the unit on July 1 at Hope Lutheran Church. Other new officers for the coming year are Louise Anderson, first vice chairman, Pat Mitchell, second vice chairman, Dorothy Kinney, secretary, and Emma Jakich, treasurer.

The lesson "Make Your Bones Last" — Osteoporosis — was presented by Alice Pfroender and Dorothy Kinney. They urged consumption of calcium-rich foods to prevent bones from becoming brittle and weak.

A salad luncheon, with a patriotic theme, preceded the meeting. June Lux, Ruth Brave, Lucille Sackett and Rose Kayser were hostesses.

Two new members were introduced — Helen Todoroff and Lena Seitzer.

Winners of a patriotic quiz were Arlene Brinkmeyer, Pat Mitchell, Lucille Lybarger and Emma Jakich.

The next regular meeting will be Sept. 2, when the home adviser will present a lesson on "People Abuse — Who, What, Where and Why?" Meetings are at noon the first Tuesday of each month at Hope Lutheran Church on Walnut Avenue and new members are invited to attend, the chairman said.

Native American food preparation class this month

Cahokia Mounds Historic Site is spicing up the month of July with an American Indian cooking class on July 26 and 27. Becky Miller, who will be instructing the class, has assisted in Indian food preparation for SIUE's Elderhostel program.

The cooking class will begin Saturday, July 26, at 9 a.m. with a walk around the Cahokia Mounds site to identify and gather native plants. The afternoon will be spent stone-grinding corn, preparing a cooking hearth, and participating in other activities.

On Sunday, July 27, the class will begin at 1 p.m. with the students preparing a native feast of venison or wild turkey, fish, mussels, corn, and the cob/corn bread, seasonal berries, fresh green salad, sumac lemonade, and sassafras tea. This menu will be prepared with traditional tools and techniques.

The fee is $20 for the two days. For more information or to register, the Cahokia Mounds museum may be called at 344-5368. The adults' and childrens' native American program is made possible through a grant from Pepsi-Cola Alton Bottling in cooperation with the Cahokia Mounds Museum Society and Illinois Historic Preservation Agency.

Triplets explode early for 7-4 victory

IMPERIAL, Mo. — Eric Gray has a job tossing newspapers, but it almost cost him dearly.

Gray, a pitcher for the Tri-City American Legion baseball team, developed tendonitis in his arm throwing the papers and wasn't expected to pitch this weekend. In fact, his status was questionable. To complicate matters, Gray hurt his foot when he stepped on a piece of glass while swimming at a lake.

"I wasn't expecting him to pitch at all," said Triplet manager Dave Coakley. "But he asked me if he could warm up and see how (his arm) felt. He said it was fine, but I figured I could get only three or four innings from him."

What Coakley didn't count on was that Gray would pitch a seven-inning victory, scatter eight hits and even contribute at the plate with an RBI double.

Gray tied a bit in the fourth, surrendering three hits, but was still strong enough to lead.

All that enabled Tri-City to post a 7-4 win over Creve Coeur in a first round game of the Terry Moore Fourth of July Tournament sponsored by Stockham Post No. 4. Creve Coeur was a last minute replacement for St. Peters.

Propelled by Jamie Hogan, who was 3-for-4 with 3 RBIs, Tri-City scored two runs in the first and four more in the fourth inning to seal the win.

"Jamie's been on a tear of late," Coakley said. "His average has really been coming up." After three games, Hogan was the leading hitter in the tournament.

Meanwhile, the victory improves the Triplets' record to 6-9 overall and 4-0 in District 22 play. Tri-City was to play two other games on Saturday.

Tri-City will resume league play on Monday, July 7, with a game against South Division foe Waterloo. The Triplets are 2-1 in their last three games, despite having two other contests cancelled because of rain.

"It was important to win the first game of the tournament because it's a round robin," Coakley said.

The Triplets survived despite a revamped lineup forced by the ejection of centerfielder Tim Hogan in the fourth inning. Hogan, who was thrown out at the plate on a close play to end the third, was given the heave-ho for tossing his bat after being called out on strikes. It forced Coakley to move some of his players around.

Tri-City scored two times in the first inning. Jamie Hogan hit the third pitch of the game in the right field corner for a triple. He scored easily on a ground out by Jim Chomko.

Todd Hinterser followed with a blast that hit the fence in left-center for a double. Hinterser went to third on a wild pitch. After Doug Partney fanned, Tim Hogan walked. Hinterser scored to make it 2-0 when Creve Coeur's Pat Edwards threw wildly past first on a pickoff attempt of Hogan.

Tri-City lost a runner in the third when Tim Hogan was thrown out at the plate after he tried to score on a double by Scott LeVault.

Gray allowed Creve Coeur just two hits over the first three innings and got more support in the fourth.

The Triplet pitcher started the inning with a walk and went to second on a bashed by Darin Hendrickson. A walk to Fred Becker loaded the bases. Jamie Hogan cleared the bases with his second triple of the game. Hogan later scored on an RBI single by Hinterser to give Tri-City a 6-0 lead.

Creve Coeur broke through in the fourth. An RBI single by Craig Alper scored Dan Schwartz who had reached on a fielder's choice. Another single by Jeff Gerson scored Alper, making the score 6-2.

A double by Joe Silvestri and a sacrifice fly by Joe Clausen trimmed the Triplets' lead to 6-3. Creve Coeur got a single run in the seventh to round out the scoring.

Pinch-hitter Mike Monroe reached when the third strike rolled to the screen. He later scored on a single by Bill Ingle. However, the rally stopped there after Gray fanned Mike Kummick to end the game.

Overall, Gray struck out seven. He fanned at least one batter in every inning except the fourth and sixth. He did not walk a batter.

Gray was also backed by some good defense. Both Hendrickson and Chomko made some fine plays on hard hit grounders.

"We hit the ball really well and played good defense," Coakley said.

After the July 4 tournament, the Triplets play Waterloo on Monday and host Alton on Tuesday.

Ailing Optimists win again

By Dave Whaley

BETHALTO — One of the easiest excuses for any losing team in any sport is injuries.

A few guys get hurt, the losses start to pile up, and there you go. The season is shot.

The Granite City Optimists baseball team is suffering through a string of injuries right during the busiest part of the season. Three players are currently on the shelf with various ailments.

The only trouble is, the Optimists haven't started losing much. In fact, they racked up their 10th win in a row Thursday with a 6-3 triumph over Bethalto that lifted their record to 14-1.

Mike Georgeff was in and out of trouble all night, as Bethalto got 10 hits and five walks. But they stranded 10 and had the tying run at the plate when the game ended. That hitter, third baseman Chad Thompson, hit a towering fly ball to deep left field, but Bethalto's Hendrickson hauled it in with plenty of room to spare.

"The last out was the toughest one of the game," said manager Paul Kacera. "Mike was struggling, especially early."

But Georgeff gave himself an early cushion with a two-run second inning, as the Optimists hung on for the victory.

The Optimists took full advantage of their chances, scoring six runs on only seven hits. An error and a walk put them in business in the second. Then Georgeff ripped a pitch from Bethalto starter Tony Stocklein into the gap in left-center to score Scott LeVault and Tim Patterson for a 2-0 edge.

Catcher Dave Bamber followed with an RBI single, then he picked up the first of his four stolen bases on the night. Kory Burton narrowly missed a homer as he doubled off the left field fence, but Bamber scored easily to give the Optimists a 4-0 lead.

Georgeff escaped trouble with a double play ball in the first, then dodged a bullet in the second. Stocklein tripled to center field, then James Kincaid walked and stole second. But Georgeff fanned Pat Wiencek and Thompson, and got Chris Grammer on a grounder to Charlie Collins at shortstop.

But Bethalto finally broke through in the third. Steve Tavernier and Eric Lawson singled, then Stocklein got a two-out hit to make it 4-1. Kincaid walked to fill the bases, then Wiencek also got a free pass to force in a run. But Georgeff again got Thompson on strikes to escape further trouble. Granite City pulled the lead in the fourth when Bamber walked, stole second and third and scored on a two-out hit by Mike Lane.

Bamber again walked in the sixth and, after stealing second, rode home on another two-out RBI hit by Lane.

Bethalto was guilty of some faulty base running in the sixth. Grammer singled with one out and stole second. But he was thrown out easily by Bamber trying to swipe third. Tavernier walked and Lawson followed with a hit. Tavernier stopped at second, but Lawson put his head down and steamed for second. He was trapped and Patterson chased him down all the way from third base to the base line between first and second. Collins finally made the tag.

Georgeff retired the first two batters in the seventh, but struggled for the last out. With Mark Begando warmed up and ready to come in, Kincaid followed Stocklein's third hit with a single of his own. Center fielder Jerry Thompson's throw eluded Patterson at third and went into the dugout, allowing Stocklein to score and sending Kincaid to third.

Wiencek walked to bring the tying run to the plate. But Georgeff had fanned Thompson three times, so Kacera stayed with him, then watched nervously as Thompson fled out deep to left.

At 14-1, and 4-0 in Division 3 of the Metro East Junior Legion

League, the Optimists appear to be in good shape for the playoffs later this month.

"It all depends on our pitching," Kacera said. "Because we know we can score four, five or six runs a game. And we'll have some help there because (Scott) LeVault will be available to pitch for us. The senior legion season will be over by then."

"We had some guys who hadn't played much before this year, so I wasn't sure how well we would do. But it has worked out."

It has worked even as injuries have hit. Rich Wilson hurt his shoulder diving for a ball in Edwardsville Saturday and could be out 3-4 weeks.

Open women going for gold

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the first of a series of articles previewing the Prairie State Games which will be held July 16-20 at the University of Illinois at Champaign.)

By Chris Ochso

For Ruben Mendoza, things couldn't be more perfect. The coach of the Southern Region open women's soccer team has his squad hard at work, and he's impressed with the dedication of his players.

"Every one of these girls shows a lot of dedication," said Mendoza. "I enjoy that. They don't complain, and they work at it (the game)."

With an attitudes like that the Colonels should be hard to beat this year, as the team heads forward in its pursuit of a gold medal.

"Our girls were fantastic. They got to the finals, but lost in overtime (to Ploasney)," said Mendoza. "What made last year's team so special was the fact that only 12 players traveled to the Games. Originally, 40 players had made the squad. However, four of those players were unable to make the trip because of jobs."

Mendoza is prepared for any emergencies this year. A total of 18 players tried out for the squad, and Mendoza plans to have 16 players, with two alternates, this year.

Many of the players are from the area, and play for SIUE.

From Belleville, Cougars Carol Verdu and Laura Whetstone are back for their third year on the team.

Mendoza feels that Whetstone, a keeper, is perhaps one of the best goalies in the area.

"She's (Whetstone) done fantastic," said Mendoza. Verdu is questionable for this year's team because she recently had surgery to remove a heel spur. From Fairview Heights, third-year players Deanna Buhl and Lori Schutzenhofer are back. Schutzenhofer, 2B, midfielder, scored seven goals for the Colonels last year.

"She's (Schutzenhofer) in good condition, and her playmaking is very good," said Mendoza.

From Edwardsville, Mendoza has first-year player Kim Thompson. Granite City's Patricia Atkinson is back for her third year on the squad. Atkinson, who was used at back and midfield for SIUE last year, is considered to be one of Mendoza's better players of defense, and is very dependable. Five other players are also Granite City natives.

SIUE midfielder Laura James has returned to the squad.

"She (James) was there (at Prairie State) the first year, but wasn't there last year because of her job," said Mendoza. "We missed her play."

Another player who was unable to travel to Urbana last year was fullback Susan Buenger.

Chris Kessler, who plays at Florida Central, will be used at either striker or wing for the Colonels.

"We can put her (Kessler) any place," said Mendoza. "She's very strong and very skillful."

Two new players, Maria Parra and Jennifer Boyer, will be used at back or midfield.

Six Collinsville natives round out the roster. At forward, Mendoza has second-year veteran Kathy Potthast. Two SIUE players, Shelley Sarach and Leigh Basarich, are back for their third season.

"Sarrah is a lot of help," said Mendoza. "She's steady, and she improves all the time."

Basarich will be used primarily at back, but may be moved up to a forward slot.

The first-year players, Vicky Geaschel, Chris Ellis, and Brenda Basarich, also figure in the team's plans.

Geaschel will be used at back or forward. Brenda Basarich, Leigh's sister, will be used at forward, while Ellis will be used in a utility role.

Mendoza was especially pleased with the performance of Brenda Basarich.

"I've watched her (Brenda) play indoors, and on outdoors," said Mendoza. "She's very skillful, especially at shots on goal."

"She has speed, and she'll be a lot of help."

Optimists

"I expect him to be ready for the playoffs," Kacera said.

Randy Chapman was hurt while playing soccer and Lane also suffered a soccer injury, although he was a designated hitter Thursday. "He just can't throw for a while," said coach Carl Benson. "We only had 12 or 13 guys, and now we're having trouble fielding an entire team."

Yes, the poor Optimists. They're having some trouble. They go for their 11th straight tonight in O'Fallon in an 8 p.m. game. They travel to East St. Louis for a 6 p.m. game Tuesday before hosting Brighton in a 7:30 p.m. game Thursday at Varsity Field. They round out the busy week Friday with a 6 p.m. doubleheader at Collinsville.
